Opportunity with CMEC

The Centre for Maritime Economy and Connectivity (CMEC) is a research institution and a policy advisory organisation under the aegis of the Ministry of Ports, Shipping and Waterways (MoPS&W), Govt. of India. It aims to study the maritime sector with reference to India and its neighbours, as well as the larger Indian Ocean including geo-strategic issues. It seeks to use those insights to share with the government, academic institutions, and others. In a short time, the institution has already begun to build up an impressive body of work which interested applicants are encouraged to read upon.

CMEC invites applications for short- and long-term projects from professionals with interest in research work. The applicant should at least hold a Masters' degree in Economics/Commerce/Public Policy/MBA/Business Economics or equivalent or have a graduate degree in B.Tech/CA/Cost Accountancy or equivalent business disciplines. The suggested age band for applicants is between 25 to 45 years (relaxable in exceptional cases).

CMEC expects candidates to have an interest in research and policy related work for which there shall be ample scope. Candidates are encouraged to apply with a broad outline of the project they shall wish to pursue. Since this is not a job offer, candidates can pursue their work at CMEC in addition to their current affiliations. The remunerations will be attractive, depending upon the nature of the project mutually agreed upon, besides the qualifications and aptitude of the candidates.
